Gingrich takes the lead in Florida

Raleigh, N.C. – PPP's first post-South Carolina poll in Florida finds Newt Gingrich with a small lead. He's at 38% to 33% for Mitt Romney, 13% for Rick Santorum, and 10% for Ron Paul.

Gingrich has gained 12 points since a PPP poll conducted in Florida a week ago. Romney has dropped 8 points. Paul and Santorum have pretty much remained in place. Their favorability numbers show similar trendlines. Gingrich's has increased 8 points from +15 (51/36) to +23 (57/34). Meanwhile Romney's has declined 13 points from +44 (68/24) to +31 (61/30).

Gingrich's supporters are more committed than Romney's. 78% of his voters say they'll definitely vote for him compared to 73% for Romney, and among folks whose minds are completely made up he leads by 9 points at 45-36.

If Rick Santorum drops out between now and next Tuesday, Gingrich will be the beneficiary. His voters prefer Gingrich over Romney 50-23, and in a field where he's no longer a candidate Newt's lead expands to 43-36.

The good news for Romney is that has a lead banked. 16% of the folks we polled said they already voted, and they support him by a 43-40 margin.

He's also more popular than Newt with a 61% favorability rating to Gingrich's 57%. There are a significant number of voters who like Mitt but aren't currently planning to vote for him- if Gingrich has an Iowa style implosion in the next 8 days there are plenty of folks who are going to be comfortable moving toward him.

“Newt Gingrich is the new Florida front runner,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “We’re seeing the same sort of stunning reversal there that we saw in South Carolina last week. Mitt Romney’s not showing the ability to close the deal.”

PPP surveyed 921 likely Republican primary voters on January 22nd and 23rd. The margin of error for the survey is +/-3.2%. This poll was not paid for or authorized by any campaign or political organization. PPP surveys are conducted through automated telephone interviews. PPP is a Democratic polling company, but polling expert Nate Silver of the New York Times found that its surveys in 2010 actually exhibited a slight bias toward Republican candidates.
